The Great Fire at Plattsburg, N. Y., AUGUAY 21, 18:7. HEBRING'S SAFES NINE DAYS IN THE FIRE

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 30, 1837. Mesers. Herring, Fairel & Sherman, New York-GENTS:-We were among thei sufferers by the terrible fire on Tuesday, the 21st instant. Most of the con-tents had been removed from our Safe—one of your manufacture-and we did not get the Safe out of the rulas until to-day, the ninth day after the fire. The ruins of our building continued so hot that the work, men were compelled to throw water on the rubbish to give them a chance to work, and the Safe was still hot enough to burn the hand if laid upon it. After getting it open we found in the drawer some paper money, much to our surprise. There was also some gold and silver, which was all right. We consider this wonderful, after such a long and terrific heat, Respectfully yours, EDWARDS & CO.

PLATTSHURG, N. Y., Aug. 27, 1867. Messrs. Herring, Parret & Sherman, New York-GENTS:-The Hearing Safe I had in one was subjected to a severe test at the very large fire which occurred here last Tuesday night, 21st inst. My office was on the second story of a brick building. The Safe fell with the floor and wal's into the cellar. On Wednesday it was impossible for men to work on the ruins, the debris had become so hot. I got it out on Thursday, the second day after the fire, and opened it. The valuable papers, some small account books, also some notes, were preserved in excellent condition, every line and word legible. I consider this an excellent test of your Fire-Proof Safe, and assure you it was a surprise to me to find anything inside after such a terrible fire, no water having been thrown on the building. Truly yours, GEORGE L. CLARK, Attorney-at-Law, etc.

AND ANOTHER!!! PLATTSBURG, N. Y., August 28, 1867. Messes. Herring, Farret & Sherman, New York-GENES:-The destructive fire of Tuesday night, 21st instant, which burned up such a large number of buildings in its course, swept away the store I occupled among its victims. I was doing a jewelry busi-ness, had one of your tolding-door Safes in use, which contained a large number of watches and other jewelry. I had it removed to the sidewalk. The strong wind which was blowing at the time blow the fire npon the Safe like a blow-pipe, the exterior was very hot, as it distinctly shows; the jewelry and watches are all well preserved, though discolored from the steam of the fire-proof composition, which can easily be cleaned. Respectfully yours, WILLIAM REED.

STILL ANOTHER !!!! PLATTRIUNG, N. Y., August 28, 1967.

Messrs. Herring, Farrel & Sherman, New YorkGENTS:-I had one of your Herring Patent Champion Safes in use, which was subjected to one of the hottest and largest fires that ever took place in a small town; the heat was of the most intense character, lack of water preventing a stoppage of the fire until it had destroyed many buildings. I removed my Safe from the ruins the next day after the fire. When opened, the books, valuable papers, wills, and some money were all preserved in good condition, no appearance of having been through such a flery ordeal. Truly yours, L. D. BROOK.

MURDER.

A Jealous Husband Shoots His Wife Dead and Effects His Escape. At a quarter before 7 o'clock last evening, the

At a quarter before 7 o'clock last evening, the residence of Mr. E. L. Tevis, No. 721 Locust street, was the scene of a deliberate deed of blood, which had jealousy for its moving cause. The vicilm was a mulatto woman, about thirty years of age, Mrs. Susan Miller by name, who was employed by Mr. Tevis as a servant.

About fourteen years ago Mrs. Miller, in company with James Miller, came to Philadelphia from Chester, and were here united in the bonds of matrimony. They removed immediately to Lockport, N. Y., where they resided until two years ago. The husband had amassed a little fortune while in Lockport, and this resulted in a disagreement with his wife. Miller then disposed of his property, and they came to this city again. Mrs. Miller compained subsequently that she had been ill-treated by her husband, and, at any rate, soon after their removal to Philadelphia, the two separated, Miller going to live with his friend, near Kennett Square, in Chester county. Mrs. Miller remained in the city, living as a servant, first with a Mrs. Vanhorn, and for a year past with the Tevis family. Meanwhile the woman was frequently visited by her husband, who earnestly requested her to return to his home; but she persisted in a refussal, for the alleged reason that she had experienced bad treatment at his hands in times past.

While serving in the tamily of Mr. Tevis, Mrs. Miller.

she had experienced bad treatment at his hands in times past.

While serving in the family of Mr. Tevis, Mrs. Miller is represented as having been quite proper in her behavior, even being averse to leaving the house on her regular half-holidays. On Monday morning she is colved another visit from her husband, whom she kindly welcomed. Miller again preferred his request for her to live with him as his lawful wife, and she again refused. Arrangements were then amicably made between them by which they were to consuit a lawyer on the subject of obtaining a divorce. In the evening Miller again called at the house, and while there Mrs. Miller received a visit from another colored m.n. Miller pre ended that she sid wrong in thus receiving company, but she declined to converse on the subject. The matter of the divorce was then discussed the husband promising to take her to a lawyer on the following day, Wednesday.

Yesterday, about noon Miller again called at the house, and he sud his wile, shortly after one o'clock, went together to the office of Alderman Beitler to make inquiries concerning the possibility of their separation for life. At the eo'clock the two returned, Miller leaving his wife at the door. He was not seen again notil ten minutes after six o'clock in the evening, when he suddenly entered the kitchee, which is located in the rear of the basement. The mas seated himself, in response to an invitation from his wile. Two other colored women, Eliza Brown and Amelia Mickey, were in the room at the time, the former being engaged with Mrs. Miller in washing the supper dishes, Miller at once reverted to the subject of the contemplated divorce. He had been to a lawyer, he said, and had been to die that he minst take his wife to the attorney, that the latter might be able to receive here statement of their family troubles. Miller requested his wife to make up her mind about the matter at once, the following being the substance of the conversation which estimate, according to the statement made by the two colored wo While serving in the family of Mr. Tevis, Mrs. Mil-

colored women:

'Eusan,' s. id Miller, "have you anything against me? It you haven't, why don't you live with me?"

She answered:—"You know you don't do right,
John, by me, and never have." you go home with me to-night?" (to her aister a) will not. If I did, after a while you would "No: I will not. If I did, after a while you would get to doing as bad as ever."

"I've been to the Alderman's office again to see what more you have to say about separating."

Miller then rose up and stepped across the room, standing with his back to the range, his hands behind him. Suddenly he spoke;—

"Now, Susan, I will give you five minutes to make up your mind about what you are going to do."

"Never mind," she replied; "I am going out as soon as I am done."

he exclaimed, "you've got a beau, have

"Oh!" he exclaimed, "yon've got a beau, have yon?"

After patiently waiting for the time to clapse, Miller drew from his pocket a five barrelled revolver, and taking deliberate aim, fired the contents of each barrel in quick succession at his wife. The first ball entered the left temple of the unfortunate woman, emerging from the top of her head. She staggered towards Miss Brown and caught at her for support. A recond and a third sh't followed, and then Mrs. Miller released Miss Brown from her grasp, and staggered across the room towards the northeast corner. Miss Brown at once made her escape from the scene of the shocking traged by jumping through a window into the area beyond it, and Mrs. Mickey ran into the front room, adjoining the kitchen, After they had left the wretched man and his wife, they heard the other shots fired. His bloody work accomplished, Miller quietly walked out of the house, and effected his escape.

The weapon used by Miller was found upon the table, every barrel empty, although but three balls had entered the body of his victim—one at the temple, and another in the right shoulder, and a third in the left arm. Within an hour after the consummation of the deed, information of it was recoived at the Central Station. Chief Detective Lamon repaired at once to the house, with a number of aesistants, and commenced his investigations into the affair.

It appears that Mrs. Miller auticipated some such termination to her difficulties with her husband, as she some time since declared to a Mrs. Fester, with whom she had been on very intimate terms, that she greatly feared her husband, who had threatened to kill her a year ago.

The murderer is forty-eight years of age, dark whom she had been on very intimate terms, that she greatify feared her husband, who had threatened to kill her a year ago.

The murderer is forty-eight years of age, dark brown in complexion, of stout build, and about six feet in height. His hair is long and curly, his beard, which is mixed with grey, being worn only on the sides of his face. He was dressed, at the time of his violent encounter with his wife, in a dark, striped coat, and wore a black slik hat.

Every precaution to secure his arrest was taken at once. He is well known in the neighborhood of Kennett Square. Fallowfield, and Coatesville, Chester county, and at Lockport New York; having resided in each of the places named.

Up to noon to-day nothing definite concerning the whereabouts of the fugitive had become known—at least, no him that the police authorities thought it proper to disclose. But Chief Ruggies has made such a dispusition of his forces that all chance or hope of escape on the part of the guilty man is effectually cut off, and it is confidently anticipated that he will be taken into custody before nightfall.

ROBBED WHILE ON A "SPREE."-Edward Fowler, a colored individual, was arrested at his boarding house, in Lombard street, between his boarding-house, in Lombard street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, yesterday afternoon, upon a charge of larceny. It appears that Fowler and a Spaniard, who were boarding at the same Louse, had been employed upon the same vessel. They were apparently very friendly towards each other, and the night before last they went out together. They went to different places, and gradually drank themselves into a mild state of intoxication, the Spaniard having the severest attack. Whilst in this condition Fewler, it is alleged, robbed the Spaniard of $70 in money and a gold watch and chain. As soon as the victim of mispiaced confidence came to his senses, he had Fowler arrested. The gold watch and chain and all the money, except $20, which Fowler had invested money, except $20, which Fowler had invested in clothing, were recovered. Fowler had a hearing before Alderman Tittermary, and was committed to answer.

THE THIRD SENATORIAL DISTRICT. evening, in response to a call for Democratic citizens of the Sixteenth Ward, opposed to the nomination of David A. Nagle, about twenty-five gentlemen assembled at Mechanics' Hall. Of these at least twenty were the friends of Mr. Nagle, and not withstanding the most persistent inquiries, no one could be found to admit that be was the author of the call in opposition to the nominee of the Democratic party. Alder-man Riddie was understood to be the originator, and as he was supposed to have paid for the Hall it was suggested he should preside. He declined, and professed to be ignorant of the whole affair. As no one could be found to "as-sume the responsibility," no meeting was held. THE APPROACH OF "LITTLE PHIL." IE HERADED BY A TERRIFIC SHOWER OF HAIL—AN INTERNE EXCITEMENT AMONG THE GLAZIARS IS THE RESULT.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon this city was visited by a sudden and terrific hall-storm, which raged with great fury for about twenty minutes, accompanied by terrents of rain. It came upon us almost without warning, and took by surprise those especially who were within doors at the time. Not gradually, but with a sudden rattle and roar, multitudinous pebbies of ice, varying in alze from a pea to a hen's egg, came down from a straggling Arctic cloud, and the whole city atarted up as one man, in consternation.

The direction of the storm was from the north, or a little to the west of north, so that the houses on the south side of the streets running east and went received its full force and sustained the most serious damage. The wide streets, such as Market, Arch, Spring Garden, Coates, and Girard avenue, paid a corresponding penalty for their ample width, and along their entire length there was scarcely a pane of glass left whole where the shutters were not instantly closed.

On that portion of Arch street along which the pro-THE APPROACH OF "LITTLE PHIL." IS

On that portion of Arch street along which the procession accompanying General Shoridan massed, it was not necessary for the people to raise their windows to get a full view of the hero: tony could glance at him through the chink in the broken glass. Perbape the nost signal damage was inflicted in on the beanut street front of the State House, its great distance from the statest giving the shower of ice full sway. It presented this morning a most dilapidated and full-rin appearance, with scarcely a pane unboken. The lofty cupola of the Merchants' Exchange likewise came in for a full share of shivered glass, about 150 panes on the exposed side being crushed to atoms while the opposite side was left liked. At the Mechanical Bakery, on Broad street, eighteen hundred panes were demolished. The window-panes at the St. Lawrence Hotel, on Chesnut street, suffered to the number of about 100; while the Continental and the Bingham House were proportionately damaged. At the Methodist Episcopal Book Rooms, No. 1018 Arch street, the shattered panes numbered 60; at Germon's Photographic Gallery, on Arch street, iss, at Groom's Callery, on Scound street, above Spruce, every pane in the four large skylights was bruken, to the number of 230, the rain pouring into the building and inflicting a damage of about $150; while the other large photographic establishments in different sections of the city were almost equally damaged. At the Asymm for the Blind over 200 panes of glass were broken and a chimbury blown down. The crashing of glass and the falling bricks caused quite an excitement among the children, but no one was hurt.

As many of the large warehouses on, Market and other business streets are without shutters, the rain poured into them through the broken windows, damaging goods in many places to the value of from $1000 to $500 tile sections of the large warehouses on, Market and other business streets are without shutters, the rain and should be such as the streets On that portion of Arch street along which the pro-

Lawfor being thrown to the pavement and seriously injured. He was removed to his residence, No. 2211 Clayfon street.

The hall stones, as already stated, varied in size from a pea to a hen'wegg, and in shape from a perfect sphere to a flat oblong mass. Their structure was quite curious. The centre of the mass was usually of nardened, milk white snow, surrounding which was a circle of perfectly transparent ice, and without this a rough congiomerated covering, to which, in many cases, smaller round masses of ice adhered. The quantity of hall which fell covered the ground to the depth of two inches in places where the water had an opportunity to flow off before the hail was meited. It small yards and other exposed enclosures, whole barrels full could have been gathered up after the subsidence of the storm.

Considerable jocularity was indulged in after the shower. The newsboys and bootblacks amused the moslves and astonished verdant old gentlemen oy pressing together huge handfuls of hail, and representing that these outlandish lumps fell from the heavens in one mass. One gentleman remarked to us that "many of the hail-stones would weigh a pound;" and another asserted that "he was terribly irighten d, and began to think, with a shiver, of what ble gran mother had told him when a child concerning the end of the world."

BEAUTIPUL SPECIMENS OF CHROMO-LITHOGRAPHY. BRAUTIFUL SPECIMENS OF CHROMO-LITHOGRAPHY.

—It is only within late years that we have begun to be sensible of the immense resources of the lithographic art. In the imitations from oil paintings the most marvellous effects are produced by the artistic blending of colors and the combinations of the different shades. Indeed, some of the best efforts of our lithographers are so like the oil paintings which they counterfeit, that it requires a pretty close inspection before one can assure himself that the chromo imitation is not a genuine oil painting. The principal manufacturers of these line chromos in this country are the firm of L. Prang & Co., No. 159 Washington street, Boston. All our readers who are lovers of the beautiful will remember their "Picnic in the Woods," and two other companion pictores, the "Gualis" and beautiful will remember their "Picnic in the Woods." and two other companion pictures, the "Qualis" and the "Duckings." But, fine as these works undoubtedly are, the new chromo of Correggio's "Magdalens." throws even their merits into the shade. This fine chromo is a copy from the picture in the ari gallery in Dresden, and preserves most of the points of merit of that most beautiful and lovely work of art. The tender and sweet expression of the Magdalens, which has been considered a type of the most perfect woman, has been reproduced most marveilously in the chromo. The picture can be seen at Mr. G. W. Pitcher's, No. 808 Chesnut street, where it is for sale at $10 per copy.

chrome. The picture can be seen at Mr. G. W. Pitcher's, No. 808 Chesnut street, where it is for sale at $10 per copy.

To those lovers of the beautiful in art who admire these productions of skill in chromo-lithography, it may not be amiss to give a short account of how they are produced. The sione used in lithographing is a species of limestone found mostly in Bavaria. The surface of the stone, after being prepared, is drawn upon with a crayon or ink prepared for the purpose. The oil color is then applied with a roller, the lines drawn upon the stone retaining the color, the other part of the stone not drawn upon resisting it. In a chrome, the first proof is a light ground that covering nearly the whole surface. It is only a faint, shadowy resemblance to the finished picture, and seems more like a shadow than an outline. The next proof contains the outline of another tint, and so on, every impression putting on a different color or shade of color, until all the varied tints of the original-painting that is sought to be copied are produced. The last impression gives the resemblance to canvas so necessary for a finished appearance. During the various printings, a single error in shading is instantly detected by a practised sye. In the chromo of the "Magdalena" twenty-four separate impressions had to be made to produce the effect. With these twenty-four impressions there have been a great many more distinct shades priduced by the combination of the colors.

GENERAL SHERIDAN.

His Formal Reception at Independence

Hall This Morning.

Long betore the hour appointed for the formal reception of Major-General Philip A. Sheridan by the Mayor and Councils of this city, a large and eager crowd had collected in and about the State House, where the ceremony was to take place.

As the hour approached, all who were not connected with the lity Government or the preast were politely shown the way to the door, and at twenty minutes before one o'clock a strong force of police made their appearance at the Chesnut street entrance to Independence Hall, forcing their way into the dome mass of people congresated on the sidewatk.

Then they separated into two columns, and marching in opposite directions, drove back the surging crowd, until a space leading from the steps to the street—about twenty feet in width—was cleared.

Through this open scace the members of the City Council from the set of time made teelr way, and a lew minutes before one o'c'cook, both branches of that body were called to order in their respective Chambers, by Presidents Spering and Marces.

His Honor Mayor Modicheel, accompanied by the members of Councils, then repaired to the room on it e first fleor which has acquired a world-wide celebrity as Independence Hall.

It was, indeed, eminently fitting that the welcome of the great loyal city of Philadelphia should be tendered to one of the Republic's most illustrious sons and bravest defenders on this hallowed ground.

The Mayor took his station at the rear of the hall, with the Presidents of the two branches of Council and thus they awaited the coming of the hero of thee day.

Ab ut one o'clock a great shout or welcome was raised by the mullitude without, announcing the approach of "Cavalry Phil." He was in full uniform, and accompanied by a portion of the Reception Committee of Council, and by Brigadier-General James W. Forsyth, Colous deorge H. Forsyth and Liceuters.

Jonnel John Schnyler Crosby, of his military is a central Sheridan alighted from his carriage h

W. Forsyth. Colouel deorge H. Forsyth. and Lieutens Dononel John Schnyler Crosby, of his military strains of the control of the presence of the large force of police prevented a recurrence of the violent demonstrations in the way of crowding and handshaking which he encountered isst evening at the Haitimore depot.

The party passed quickly into the main hall of the State House, and thence, through another corden of police, into Independence Hait, where he was received with hearty cheers by the gentle men assembled therein. The Mayor advanced haif way to the door and took the guest of the city by the hand, concucting him to the rear of the room, and then addressed him in the following words of welforms:—"General:—Here, in the birthplace of the Republic—here, where the Declaration of Independence was adopted and proclaimed, the city of Paliadelphia, through its constituted authorities, bids you welcome; you who have bought so galiantly in guarding the life of the Republic; you, who have acted so wisely in maintaining the principles of the Declaration.

"It is not possible for me to put into adequate speech the feelings that prompt this welcome, and I shall not attempt it. Intensely loyal as this community was during the war to crush the Rebellion, it delights to honor those who mirshalled its armies and led them to victory—intensety national as this community now is, it delights to honor those who are earnest in their purpose that the triumph of law shall equal the triumph of the battle-field. In both these respects it recognizes in you one who is pre-eminently deserving. Three years ago the whole country rang with your exploits in Virgioia; to-day the whole country rings with your exploits in Virgioia; to-day the whole country rings with your exploits in Virgioia; to-day the whole country rings with your exploits in Virgioia; to-day the whole country rings with your exploits in Virgioia; to-day the whole country rings with your exploits in Virgioia; to-day the whole country rings with your exploits in Virgioia; fast devotion that resists all efforts to impair the national supremacy.

"Geoeral:—For you and such as you eulogiums are needless. Your own true heart faithfully interprets to you the sympathies of the nation you have served and are still serving so well. But while this is so, my fellow citizens, in whose beinal? I am now speaking, would not forgive me if I did not at least say that among the heroes whose deeds were most inspiring, none stands higher in their affections than Cavairy Sheridan; among the martyrs who have suffered in their cause none fills them with more profound respect than the deposed commander of the Fifth Military District.

tkeir cause none fills them with more profound respect than the deposed commander of the Fifth Military District.

"General:—I have now the honor to introduce to you the Councils of Puliadelphia, and in their name, and the name of the people of the city, again I bid you welcone."

The welcome of the Mayor was spoken with great vigor and earnestness, and was at times interrupted by applause, especially when he referred to Sheridan as the "hero of Louisiana," as "Cavairy Sheridan." and as the "deposed commander of the Fifth Military District." At the conclusion of his Honor's address, General Sheridan—a man of deeds, and not a man of words—in a tone that was scarcely audiole to those who stood in close proximity, responded as follows:—

lows:—
"I regret very much that I am unable to express my appreciation of the high henor which you have conferred upon me. I can only say that it will highly gratify me if you will convey to the Councils of the city of Philadelphia and to its citizens my heartfelt thanks for this kind reception. I regret very much that I am not able to more appropriately express my appreciation."

that I am not able to more appropriately express my appreciation."

"The General was then presented by the Mayor to the Presidents and members of Councils, who passed out of the Hail by a temporary passage way through one of the Hail by a temporary passage way through one of the rear windows, after they had taken him by the hand. The doors were then thrown open, and the good people of Phicadelphia commenced to pour through the room, to pay their respects to the bero of the Shenandoch and New Orleans.

This evening General Sheridan will be tendered a serenade at the house of the friends with whom he is to stop, in Germantown; and to-morrow evening he will be present at the great soiders' meeting at National Hall, after which he will be serenaded at the Union League F.

Major-General H. G. Sickel, with Captain J. P. Bankson as Secretary:—

Witercas, Almighty God hav removed from among us our late commander, fellow soldier, and friend, Brevet Major-General Charles Griffin, whose ability bravery, and many soldierly qualities have long since been graven on our hearts. Therefore be it

Resolved, That by the death of General Griffin, the army has been deprived of one of its brightest ornaments, and our country of one of its noblest and most patrictle sons.

Resolved, That we point with pride to his record, and at his decease call to mind the high tribute paid him in the field by a comrade in arms while living:—

"The General who never uselessly sacrificed the lives of his men, although always ready to risk his own."

True to his character he died at his post, and in his loss we mourn not only the able commander, but the true-hearted gentleman and realous friend.

Resolved, That to his bereaved wife is extended our deepest sympathy, and may He who wipes away tears from all eyes endue her with resignation to His will, and give her His perfect peace.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, duty authenticated, be transmitted to the widow of the deceased.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.

Washington, Sept. 26.

The Evening Stay has the following:—This morning, about 5 o'clock, the number of carriages and the movement of a pretty steady procession of vehicles across the Long Bridge, indicated that something was "out," and the initiated understood that it was the departure of the crowd who proposed to be present at the prize-fight this morning between Barney Mullen and Dan Dillen, of Philadelphia, for one thousand dollars a side, A large number of omnibuses, and nearly every hack in the city, were engaged for the trip, and parties started from various points, Jack O'Leary's, near the railroad depot, Price's stables, the Delmonico Oyster Bay, Campbell's, the Kirkwood, etc. Barney Agron and his party started from the latter locality. In the anxiety to make a sure thing of being present at the affair, numbers of persons had congregated in the vicinity of the various starting placessoon after midnight, and the air being rather cool, they had rather a shivering time of it.

The Crowd.

The Crowd.

Among the crowd present were a large number of the notables of the prize ring. Barney Aaron was, of conrse, the observed of all observers. He looks in excellent condition, but still wears a dark circle about the left eye, and a slight twist of the nose, the result of Sam Collyer's sockdologers in the Aquia creek fight. Barney was accompanied by Bill Ryail and Tom Allen, the renowned English pugliists, who are now giving exhibitions in company with Aaron.

Alien offers to fight the United States or the world for $3000 aside. Among the other prizering notables present were Raish Bolster; Jim Henricita, of Baltimore: Joe Casey and Walter Goodrich, of Phiadelphia: Dooney Harris, of New York, who fought Tom Chandler in 'California: Oyster Jack, of the Hammill House, Philadelphia; W. E. Harding, of New York, the champion three-mile runner of America, and who is matched to run with D. E. Kelso, champion of Canada, for $2000 a side, at Aurelia, Canada, on the 19th of December next; Butt Riley, John Beard, of Baltimore; Frank Thomas, of Philadelphia; C. T. Mullen, brother of the fighter, and a number of the Pennsylvania Legislature and others; Jim Cusick, of New York; Joe Edwards, Jim Dunn, Jack Rooney, Alderman William McMullen, of Philadelphia: Harry Mulligan, Andy Arthur, Harry Henry, Jem Walbing, of Philadelphia.

Mullen is backed up by his brother Arthur, a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and the stakes of $1000 a side are held by James Smith, of Philadelphia.

Mullen stopped last night in Georgetown, and with his seconds, Barney Aaron and Dooney Harris, proceeded this morning to a house near the ground, on Hunter's farm, between Washington and Alexandria, where they awaited the arrival of the other parties.

Dillon made his headquarters at Teddy Ryan's, in Alexandria, and left there this morning with his seconds—Butt Riley, of New York, and Jim Henrietta, of Baltimore Butt miscook the meeting place, and went some five miles up the Leesburg turnplike. Dillon is backed by

The ropes for the ring were laid by "Oyster Jack," of the Hammili House, Philadelphis, and at 9:45 A. M. Mullen shied his castor into the ring, and entered, accompanied by his seconds, but Dillon not appearing, the fight was adjourned until 1 P. M., to give Dillon time to reach the ground. The Indian Commission.

Washington, Sept. 26.—A. S. H. White, Esq., of the Interior Department, and Secretary of the Indian Peace Commission, arrived in Washington last evening, four days from the North Platte, the Commission having adjourned at that point on the 21st instant, to meet at Fort Harker, Kansas, on the 8th of October, for the purpose of making arrangements to meet the five tribes—Cheyennes, Arapahoes, Apaches, Klowas, and Camauches, at Medicine Lodge creek, eight miles south of Fort Larned. Fort Larned.

Mr. White reports that the council with the Chiefs of the Brule, Ogallaia, and Cheyenne tribes was successful. They agreed to meet the Commissioner at Fort Laramie on the lat of November next, and in the meantime they will send out runners amongst their lst of November next, and in the meantime they will send out runners amongst their people to bring in to the council at that place those who have not yet been met with.

At the council with the Indians, on the 19th inst., at North Platte, they attributed the present troubles to the building of the Smoky Hill Railroad, and the wagon road through the Powder river country to Montans, which, they allege, divide the best hunting-grounds now left to them. They wanted these two roads to be abandoned by the Government, and desire to be permitted to hunt as long as the game lasts, when they would be willing to try and cultivate the soil. The next day the Commission met the Indians in council to respond to their propositions, which was done by General Sherman, who read the paper prepared by him of the sense of the Commission, the substance of which has already been published.

The Indians who were then present understand that they have entered into a contract of stand that they have entered into a contract of peace.

Ma White will leave Washington again about the first of October to meet the Commiss for thanker on the 8th. At present the various members have separated. Commissioner Taylor, the President of the Board, is at Chicago. Gen. Terry is at his headquarters at St. Paul, and Senator Henderson at his home in Louisiana,

Generals Sherman and Harney are at St Louis; Colonel Tappan left for Denver, Colorado on the 21st; and General Sanborn, who is dis on the 21st, and centeral Salcoora, who is dis-bursing officer of the Commission, remains at Omaha attending to the shipment of supplies to the Indians of the upper Missouri river, whose crops have been destroyed by the grass-

Kansas Politics.

St. Louis, Sept. 20 .- The Republican's Wyandotte (Kansas) special dispatch, says that the German Convention, which was held at Topeka on Monday last, adopted resolutions against the Sunday and Temperance laws, and declared it would not support any man for the State Legislature, or municipal office, who would not give a written pledge to oppose such laws. An un-successful effort was made to commit the Germans to negro suffrage. The female suffrage question was not touched.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS-Judge Peirce.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Peirce.—
Many Pyle was tried upon a charge of being a common scoid. A large number of witnesses were examined, whose testimony, taken all in all, was rather against the defendant. The Jury, after remaining out four hours, teturned a verdict of not guilty, imposing the cests upon the defendant. The Jurge, informing the defendant that the evidence in the case would have warranted a conviction, ordered her to give security in 2000 to keep the peace.

Ellen Claway was charged with assault and battery upon Eden Soott. The evidence was that Mrs. Soott chied upon Mrs. Claway for an explanation of remorks made in defamation of ber character. Angry words, of course, evisse, and brickbals and China bowls were exchanged; and the two women were so inseparably mixed up in the offense, that the jury had to sequit imposing the costs upon the defendant.

John Hementer was charged with assault and battery upon Frederick Eavy, with intent to kiil. The evidence was that on the evening of July 10th the defendant went to the door of Eavy's salcon, at the corner of Passyunk road and Wisarion street and pointed a pistol at him. He (Eavy) immediately fell down behind the bar and crept upstairs and got his own pistot. When he came down Rementer was charged that there was no evidence that Rementer's pistol was loaded or was a deadly weapon; and unless that was proven, a count charging an assault with intent to kill. William Flynn pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery upon William Cotter. On last Saturday night two weeks ago, Flynn got into a Bricesturg car slightly under the influence of liquar. When Cotter, the conductor, asked the passengers for their fare, and Flynn gave him a twenty live cent note, and received his change, he insisted that he had given the conductor a fifty cent note, and was onlittled to more change. The conductor looked over his money, and found that Flynn had not given him a fifty cent note, and so told him. He then called the conductor opprobricus names, and struck him
